.org pavilion

Fact Sheet

The .org Pavilion® is an exciting opportunity for free software projects to reach out to our conference and expo attendees during LinuxWorld Conference & Expo®. We are providing this opportunity as a thank you for the significant contributions you have made and your support of free software development.

Don't miss this exciting opportunity to participate and meet thousands of enthusiastic professionals as they make their way through LinuxWorld Conference & Expo!

The following criteria must be met to be eligible for participation in the .org Pavilion:

• Your business must be a not-for-profit organization; however, you may receive donations to support your operations, and
• Your mission must be to promote and develop the acceptance, use of, and distribution of open source and free software.

.org participants can be:

• Web site
• Research and development group
• Radio program
• Newsletter
• Not for profit distributor of open source and free software

LinuxWorld Conference & Expo will provide:

• 10′ x 10′ space on the show floor in a designated area ($6,000 value)
• 500 watt electrical drop
• One internet drop – 200 kbs shared service
• One 6′ draped table
• One 6′ draped counter
• Two stools
• One wastebasket
• Carpet in show color
• Booth cleaning
• Overnight perimeter security
• Exposure in future print and Web marketing materials (as schedule permits),
• On-site identification signage
• Access to press lists and attendee lists
• 100 free Expo passes for your customers

PLEASE NOTE: Shipping, material handling, phone, lead retrieval, and other furniture are not included.

We request that you promote LinuxWorld Conference & Expo to your members or network.

Please contact Debbie Camerato at (508) 424-4833 or Debbie_Camerato@idg.com with any questions or concerns.